THE WELCOME TO REED.

The Maine Statesman's Enthusiastic Reception in Congress.

BIENNIAL DRAWING FOR SEATS

Some of the Most Prominent Members on Both Sides Were Very Unlucky in the Lottery--Mr. Payne, of New York, Among the Last Called.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The drawing of the biennial lottery for the purpose of selecting the members of the Democratic minority in the House of Representatives, which was held yesterday afternoon, was a very interesting affair. The drawing was held in the House of Representatives, and was presided over by Mr. Speaker Reed. The drawing was held in the House of Representatives, and was presided over by Mr. Speaker Reed. The drawing was held in the House of Representatives, and was presided over by Mr. Speaker Reed.

As they moved down the central aisle the house rose in a body. A cheer of approval followed the speaker's entrance with great enthusiasm on the demonstration. As Mr. Reed advanced to the front of the room, a cheer of approval followed the speaker's entrance with great enthusiasm on the demonstration. As Mr. Reed advanced to the front of the room, a cheer of approval followed the speaker's entrance with great enthusiasm on the demonstration.

Mr. Reed stood calmly and serenely, with his hands clasped in characteristic fashion behind his back, until the house was quiet. Mr. Harner, the oldest member in continuous service present, then came forward and administered the oath of office to the speaker. The latter then delivered his inaugural address, in the course of which he said:

"It will not be unbecoming in me, I hope, if I acknowledge to this assembly that it is very agreeable to me to stand once more in the place which I left four years ago. Of the past, however, I shall not speak, for the past speaks for itself in terms more fitting and appropriate than any words which could come from my lips. Nor shall I speak of the future, for we are not putting off the harness, but putting it on. Yet, I think I may venture to say of the future, in the light of the past, that if we do some things which for the moment seem inadequate, it may be that time, which has justified itself for us on many occasions, may do so again. Those who have acted with wisdom heretofore may be fairly expected to act with wisdom hereafter."

"I am sorry to say that the pleasure associated with the honor you have bestowed upon me, an honor which no American citizen can fail to appreciate and for which I give thanks, is but for the moment; while the cares and responsibilities extend over many days."

At the conclusion of Mr. Reed's speech the members came forward in squads as their names were called, and with uplifted arms swore to support and defend the constitution. This proceeding occupied over half an hour, and then Messrs. Newlands of Nevada and Cummings of New York, newly elected members, were sworn in. Then followed the swearing in of the subordinate house officials.

The biennial lottery, or seat drawing, was then begun. On account of the overwhelming Republican majority in the present house, constituting 241 out of 353 members, an arrangement was entered into by which the Democrats should have the first tier of seats on the Democratic side, and also the two last tiers, just as in the last congress the Democrats had two of the tiers which ordinarily belonged to the Republicans.

Three hundred and fifty-six small balls were placed in a box and shaken up. A number on each ball corresponded to a name on the roll call. A blindfolded page drew out the balls and the members se-

A CONFESSION OF PERJURY.

Miss Aub Admits That She Swore Falsely Against Langerman.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Walter L. S. Langerman, who was convicted last week of criminal assault upon Miss Barbara Aub, a young book canvasser, is a free man today. Miss Aub has confessed that she perjured herself at the trial, that her relations with Langerman were voluntary, and that his story of the alleged assault was true throughout.

Langerman was to have been sentenced last Friday, but was remanded until yesterday. The surprise was that Recorder Goff was anxious to learn more of Langerman's past in order to gauge the sentence to be imposed upon him. When Langerman was taken before Recorder Goff for sentence the prisoner's counsel, Colonel Hildebrand, moved for a new trial. District Attorney Feltz asked that the motion be denied, and his request was granted. Then the recorder rose, as everybody thought, to pronounce the sentence upon Langerman.

Recorder Goff began by describing the prisoner as a man of evil reputation, but suddenly broke off, and said that after the verdict was found by the jury he had made a personal investigation of the case, and then he made known the fact that Barbara Aub had made a confession to him. The recorder then wound up by dismissing the indictment against Langerman, but committed him to the house of detention as a witness against Miss Aub.

Miss Aub was then arraigned on a charge of perjury, and the recorder committed her to the city prison. He then stated that Langerman's bail as a witness had been fixed at $1,000, which was promptly furnished, and Langerman was liberated.

The President to Travel 'Round the World

ST. PAUL, Dec. 3.—Joseph Jefferson, who is known to be one of President Cleveland's closest friends, said in an interview that the president is finishing his last term in the White House, and that after March, 1897, he will remain an ex-president. "Mr. Cleveland," said the old actor, "would not have become a candidate in 1892 but for Mrs. Cleveland. She desired it so earnestly that he went into it himself with the idea of winning. But nothing can change his present determination not to run again." In a general talk it transpired that during the past summer an arrangement was made that will be carried out when the president retires. He will make a trip around the world, and his companion on this voyage will be Mr. E. C. Benedict.

Decided Against the Constables.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Dec. 3.—In the United States circuit court yesterday Judge Sigmund filed his decision in the Columbia club case, involving the right of a member of the club to import and store liquor in the club house for his personal use. The decision finds that the seizure and confiscation of the liquor was illegal, and the liquor is ordered returned. The constables concerned are ordered to be taken into custody and detained until the cost, including fees and services of the special master, are paid.

A County Commissioner's Sentence.

HOLLYDALE, Pa., Dec. 3.—John Hurd, commissioner of Blair county, was sentenced yesterday to pay $50 fine and to surrender his office for drawing money out of the county treasury for his own use on public contracts. The state supreme court has granted a writ of allocatur staying the proceedings until they can be reviewed in the higher court. The effect of this action will be to suffer the official to serve almost the entire remainder of his term.

Two More Candidates for Lynching.

NASHVILLE, Dec. 3.—Yesterday, eight miles from Fayetteville, the scene of the double lynching last week, two negroes assaulted a white girl, aged 14, knocking her down with a stick, and broke three of her ribs. They failed in their purpose. The entire town is aroused, and pursuers are tracking negroes with bloodhounds. If caught they will most certainly be lynched.

Tracing Murdered Men's Property.

PARIS, Tex., Dec. 3.—Henry Hines, Lizzie Hines, Louisa Edwards, Lucinda Mayes and Ann Rogers have been arrested a few miles east of Goodland, L. T., on a charge of receiving property stolen from the men found murdered on the slanty boat on Red river. Henry Hines is the stepfather of Silas Lee, one of the alleged murderers. Lizzie Hines is his mother and Louisa Edwards his mistress. Lucinda Mayes is the divorced wife of Hickman Freeman, another suspect.

Both Duellists Shot to Kill.

CHATTANOOGA, Dec. 3.—Two negroes, William Smith and J. Bruce, engaged in a sensational shooting affair, both receiving wounds that it is thought will result fatally. Smith had been paying undeviating attention to Bruce's wife, who is a hard some mulatto, and Bruce, determined to win her, shot at her. Smith was shot in the head, the skull being crushed, and Bruce received a bullet in the left side.

FASTEST IN THE WORLD.

The Empire State Express, from New York to Buffalo.

ACCIDENT MARKS THE FIRST TRIP.

The Actual Running Time of the Train, However, Was 53:36 Miles Per Hour—A Very Satisfactory Performance Under Adverse Circumstances.

BUFFALO, Dec. 3.—The New York Central railroad yesterday demonstrated its ability to run upon its road the fastest regular train in the world, although it failed in this particular run to finish upon the schedule time laid out for it. This failure was due entirely to accident, other portions of the run showing conclusively that the fast schedule time can be accomplished and even exceeded.

The record so far is as follows, taking the record of yesterday up to the time of the accident: Actual running time per hour of New Empire state express, 53:36 miles; old Empire state express, 51 miles; English road, 50:55 miles; train of Empire state train over last road, 51 miles per hour.

Up to six months ago the train known as the Empire state express had the world's record as a regular train for fast running. The London railway, of England, running from London to Aberdeen, began to run a little faster than the Empire state, a record of 51 miles an hour. Yesterday the Central began a new schedule for this train which necessitates a run of about two miles an hour faster than the English rival.

Leaving New York at 8:20 a. m., and with every condition against her, the train made more than three-quarters of the distance in even faster time than the new schedule calls for, which is 53:15 miles an hour. The regular express had added to it a special car of Vice President Webb, weighing 135,400 pounds. In addition to this extra weight a drizzling rain was falling, making the tracks extremely slippery. The run from New York to Albany, 142.33 miles, was made in 2 hours and 35 minutes, the train reaching that city 4 minutes ahead of the new schedule time and 9 minutes ahead of the old schedule.

Engine 990 pulled the train through to Syracuse, 2 1/2 minutes ahead of the new schedule and 12 minutes faster than the old, making a total gain of 21 minutes between New York and Syracuse. Between Syracuse and Rochester the drizzling rain turned to snow, and the wind changed to a head wind of "great resistance." Despite these conditions, the train rolled into Rochester exactly on time.

From Rochester as far as Churchville, 55 miles east of Buffalo, the stations were passed exactly upon schedule time. Just after passing Churchville, where the engine takes water without stopping, the scow caught on an obstruction in the trough and, dropping down, banged against the ties for at least a mile until the train could be brought to a standstill. When the train was again started, after a loss of 17 minutes, it was close upon the long heavy grade running up to Batavia, and it lost 3 minutes more on this up grade. When the Batavia station was passed the train was 25 1/2 minutes behind the new schedule.

The run into Buffalo from Batavia, a distance of 49 miles, was made in about 31 minutes, and the train rolled into Buffalo 23 minutes behind the new schedule time and 2 minutes ahead of the old schedule. The entire run of 440 miles, including three stops and exclusive of a delay of 24 minutes, was made in 4 1/2 minutes.

Bound and Gagged the Watchman.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Dec. 3.—A daring robbery occurred at David Meyer's grist mill, a mile north of here, early in the morning. The robbers secured over $800 worth of property. They bound and gagged Thomas Lynn, the watchman, and threw him into a brain bin, where he was found afterwards almost frozen to death. They then blew open the safe with dynamite. As they were about to leave Meyer surprised them, and the burglars fled six shots at him, one of which lodged in his shoulder, inflicting a slight wound. They then made their escape.

Catholic Knights Will Appeal.

NEW BRITAIN, N. Y., Dec. 3.—Hon. James I. Mulligan, postmaster at this place, recently chosen provisional chairman of a committee on appeal organized to take some decisive step towards having the pronouncement that all Catholics must sever their relations with the Knights of Pythias, the Odd Fellows, and the Sons of Temperance, under pain of excommunication, set aside, is now preparing an address to be presented to Mr. Santoli, asking for a formal reopening of the case of the Knights of Pythias, that the Catholics members thereof may have an opportunity to present their side of the case.

Embezzler Ward Recaptured.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—A. K. Ward, the alleged embezzler from Memphis, Tenn., was arrested on Sunday on board a steamer at Livingston, Guatemala, by the chief of the Memphis police force, who has been on his track for some time. This information came in an official telegram, which also contained the statement that Ward was now on his way to New Orleans in custody. There is no extradition treaty between the United States and Guatemala, and it is presumed that the Guatemalan government consented to the surrender of Ward as a matter of international courtesy.

Verdict for Damages Sustained.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The general term of the court of common pleas yesterday sustained the verdict for $2,500 obtained by Mrs. Kate Lawler against Theatrical Manager T. Henry French. The plaintiff's husband was employed by French at the American theater as a stage hand, and on June 21, 1894, he was killed by a horse used in the play "The Prodigal Daughter," from the effects of which he died. The court finds "that in an action for injury by a vicious animal the keeper of the animal is the responsible party."

SHERIFF TAMSEN ON TRIAL.

A Confederate Explains How the Post-office Thieves Escaped.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The trial of Sheriff Edward J. H. Tamsen, on the indictment found against him last August, alleging carelessness and incompetency in allowing the three postoffice burglars—Killoran, Russell and Allen—to escape from Ludlow street jail, began today.

The district attorney has obtained the confession of a man who aided and abetted in the escape of the three prisoners. This man—Bill Vosburg, the notorious bank thief—in order to save himself from dying in a felon's cell, has unfolded the whole history of the escape of the burglars from Ludlow street jail and of the circumstances leading up thereto.

Vosburg is the father-in-law of Russell. The latter is now under arrest in Belgium awaiting extradition. It was Vosburg who, in the guise of a preacher, conveyed to Killoran, Russell and Allen the revolvers with which they intimidated the keepers. It was Vosburg who secreted the three fugitives while the police of this and other cities were searching high and low for them.

"I was told," said Vosburg, "by Russell and the others that the guys in the prison were soft marks, and if a couple of guns could be sneaked in they would do the rest. It was plain sailing for me. I was on good terms with Raebie and the keepers, and they never searched me when I went in."

A Political Contest with Variations.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—The hall of the Cook county Democracy was last night the scene of a desperate free-for-all fight in which clubs, chairs, canes and fists were used. There was a contest between John Powers and Thomas Gehan, the latter an Altgeld man, for the chairmanship of the county central committee. The trouble began when Mike McDonald arose, as he phrased it, "to tell the miserable lowdown Gehan push a few things about themselves." A big man sitting on a window sill became so moved by McDonald's flow of language that he struck a Gehan man in the eye, and then the fight became general. The doors were locked and the fight raged for half an hour. When every chair in the room was smashed, Powers and his friends withdrew, having lost the political fight, but ready for more of the physical sort.

A Farm Hand's Fiendish Crime.

HUDON, N. Y., Dec. 3.—Charles McDuffy, 25 years old, a farm hand, is under arrest here for a terrible crime committed at Gallatinville, Columbia county, on Thanksgiving day. He met Mrs. Caroline Proper, aged 74, while she was on the highway journeying to the house of her daughter. Seizing her, McDuffy lifted her up and threw her over a fence, when he struck her in the face and broke her jaw. In the struggle that followed, Mrs. Proper's right arm was fractured. She was choked until unconscious, and was then strangled. Her cries attracted the attention of a farmer's wife, and she drove the brute away. Mrs. Proper died Sunday night, having been unconscious most of the time since the assault.

Arguing for a New Trial for Durrant.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—The attorneys for Theodore Durrant yesterday presented additional affidavits upon which to base a motion for a new trial. Durrant's affidavits repeated the allegations of popular feeling against him, which he thought prevented him from receiving a fair trial. The district attorney in reply filed affidavits averring the fairness of the trial. Affidavits were also presented from each of the jurors in the case, stating that their verdict had been rendered strictly in accordance with the law and the evidence. The motion for a new trial is being argued today.

Re-arrested on a Murder Charge.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 3.—Anthony J. Smith was again arrested yesterday, charged with the murder of Andrew Viesley. Last March Viesley was found dead under a pile of coal in Blackman mine. It was supposed that he had met with an accident. Later a suspicion arose that he had been killed by Smith, who boarded in his house. Smith and Mrs. Viesley were arrested, but after being kept in jail six months they were discharged. On Sunday Coroner McKee had Viesley's body exhumed, and a bullet was found in the head.

Three Victims of Charcoal Fumes.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The Mollenhauer Sugar refinery at Westchester shut down last Thursday. Last night five charcoal workers were ordered to begin work in the underground charcoal pit, which, when not in active operation, are generally closed. As the thick fumes of the charcoal struck the men they fell down motionless one after the other. Those who cannot recover are Herman Pines, aged 38, Thomas Kohlmann, 27, and Thomas Levy, 33. Two others were taken out unconscious, but will recover.

Lavigne Gets the Decision.

MASSENA, L. I., Dec. 3.—Joe Wolcott, the colored Bostonian, and "Kid" Lavigne, of Saginaw, Mich., met in the arena of the Empire club last night, the conditions being that Lavigne should be declared the winner if he lasted through fifteen rounds. The fight was a bloody one, and before its conclusion Lavigne's left ear was hanging half off and his left eye was closed, while Wolcott's forehead was bleeding profusely. But Lavigne was game throughout and at the end of fifteen rounds got the decision.

Governor Morton's Ambition.

ALBANY, Dec. 3.—Governor Morton, it is said here, will announce shortly that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for president. There are now three avowed candidates for the presidency—William McKinley, William B. Allison and Thomas B. Reed—and one Republican of eminence, Benjamin Harrison, who can be considered a candidate. Mr. Morton, therefore, would make a fifth candidate.

Children Caused a Fatal Fire.

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 3.—At Gladstone village, during the absence of their mother, three children named Gangel, aged 4, 2 and 1 year, were burned to death. They were playing with fire, and set fire to the house, which was burned to the ground.

WORDS OF WARNING.

Rev. H. H. Van Meter on "The Mohammedan Uprising."

NECESSITY FOR PROMPT ACTION.

The Unfurling of the Green Flag of Mohammed in Syria Means the Massacre of Both Jew and Gentile—But an End to the Atrocities.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Rev. H. H. Van Meter, who prepared the "Mohammedan Manifesto," bearing on the origin of the Chinese outrages, has completed another on "The Mohammedan Uprising," which he intends having translated and published in every newspaper in Germany, Russia, France, Austria and Italy. He says in part:

"The awful atrocities in Armenia are merely Mohammedan massacres, to which the bloody Turks would commit all mankind not Moslem. The cause of the Christians in Armenia, therefore, is not one of any particular race or religion, but of humanity at large, and of political and religious liberty. Neither financial considerations nor national jealousies nor fraternal relationships should be permitted longer to prevent or delay the powers from fully enforcing peace and justice."

"The unfurling of the green flag of the Mohammed among the troops that are now overrunning Syria means not only the massacre of Gentile, but Jew as well. This is the signal of a holy war and the sign of a general uprising of Mohammedans, which, unless met immediately by the prompt, united, powerful forces of Christianity, will spread until the armies of millions mark the beginning of an era of cruelty and bloodshed so terrible that the world may well shudder at the very thought of it."

"Can Christian nations listen longer quietly to the cries of despair that come to us, and either of greed of gold or territorial aggrandizement or cowardice connive longer with crime? If Islam is allowed to gather itself together for the great death grapple of the ages in its final struggle with Christianity for the conquest of the world, beware!"

"Any nation that will permit its politicians to trifle longer or plot further for the possession of this abomination should be branded by the Christian world as unworthy of recognition in the councils of nations, and ostracized from all future alliance of civilization, for it is in the power of the people of Europe unitedly to put an end to these atrocities."

THE CESAREA MISSIONARIES.

For Whose Safety Great Anxiety Is Felt in This Country.

BOSTON, Dec. 3.—The missionaries of Cesarea, for whose safety great anxiety is felt, are those of the American board. Their names and residence in this country are: Rev. James L. Fowler, Woburn, Mass.; Mrs. Caroline P. Fowler, Auburn, Mass.; Rev. William S. Dodd, M. D., Boonton, N. J.; Mrs. Mary L. Dodd, New York; Rev. Henry K. Wingate, Minneapolis; Mrs. James C. Wingate, Madison, Wis.; Miss Sarah A. Clonson, Arlington, Mass.; Miss Fanny K. Burge, Pittsford, Vt.; Miss Cora A. Nason, West Superior, Wis.

The city of Cesarea is important not merely because of its own population—about 60,000—but as the center of a large number of thriving villages. The strongest element in numbers is Turkish; then comes the Armenians and Greeks. The language is entirely Turkish, even the Armenians and Greeks using it.

As a mission station of the western Turkey mission of the A. B. C. F. M. it is the center of operations that cover an area of 45,000 square miles. Mission work was commenced in this field in 1823 by the agent of the British and Foreign Bible societies. The work grew very rapidly, and by last reports there were thirty-three out stations and nearly 6,000 communicants, an average attendance on Sabbath worship of 1,000 and an annual contribution from the people for preaching, education and church building of $1,500.

The Bolting Socialists.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—When the socialists belonging to District Assembly No. 49 bolted from the Knights of Labor on motion of Patrick Murphy, ex-secretary of District Assembly No. 49, they forfeited all rights and privileges of membership in this general organization. Thomas B. McGuire, member of the executive board of the Knights, speaking to a reporter today said: "By their own act, the socialists have expelled themselves from the Knights of Labor. District Assembly No. 49 is still in our organization, and it is very easy for the secretary to grant them another charter. The bolters talk of forming a new Knights of Labor organization impregnated with the spirit of international socialism. It was tried before, and it failed. The present attempt will meet the same fate."

Caught by a Deceit Letter.

POSTON, Dec. 3.—Henry J. Files, a letter carrier of the Rock Bay station, was arrested for stealing letters and money from the mail yesterday afternoon. A decoy letter was used to detect him, and two $1 bills, marked for the purpose, were found in his pocket. It is stated that he has confessed, and will plead guilty to the charge in court.

General Sanguily Sentenced for Life.

HAVANA, Dec. 3.—General Julio Sanguily was yesterday sentenced to imprisonment for life for having committed illegal acts against the Spanish government. Sanguily has proved his American citizenship, and his case will be appealed to Spain on the ground of irregularities in his trial.

The Bowmanites Secure a Victory.

BARTON, Pa., Dec. 3.—By the decision of Judge Scott, which was rendered yesterday, the Bowmanites obtain possession of the Bethel Mission Evangelical church and parsonage in this city. The Rev. J. A. Fennell and the congregation, who are all followers of Bishop Dubs, are ousted.

LAW STORIES.

The Green Justice, the Country Attorney and the Troubled Wife.

Some gray haired lawyer politicians sat in an up town hotel talking over their early experiences. The conversation was opened by the man from the state markings:

"I see that old Dennis Keeney has just died up in my native town. He was one of the last of the old style lawyers who relied for winning their cases, not on their knowledge of law, but on their acquaintance with human nature. He was one of the best specimens of the class too. Stories of his retorts and witty sayings are told all over his own and the adjoining counties."

"The first time I ever heard him was in the case of a man who was on trial for shooting into a party that had come to 'shoot' him, a form of country celebration that you have probably heard about. Keeney appeared for the defendant. It was shown that the gun with which the shooting was done was loaded with dried peas instead of lead. Finally a very dirty looking witness was called, and testified that he had been shot in the right leg. On cross examination the fellow appeared rather shifty, and finally Keeney asked him to show the jury the exact spot where the peas took effect. The fellow demurred, saying that the shooting had been done six weeks before and the wound had healed. At last, with great reluctance, the witness drew up his right trousers leg, exposing a limb well covered with dirt. Pointing to a spot which, if possible, was blacker than the rest, the witness said:

"There! That's where they went in."

"Keeney turned to the jury, and in his most impressive manner said:

"Gentlemen, I leave it to your knowledge of crops. If peas had been planted in that soil six weeks ago, they would be in blossom now."

"The witness retired in confusion, and Keeney won his case."

"When I first began practice out in western New York," said the man who had moved to the city, "I had an experience with one of those old fashioned lawyers that taught me an important lesson in dealing with rural juries. I was fresh from college, and of course had a good opinion of my own abilities. The only other lawyer in the town was an old fellow who knew no law, but was acquainted with every man, woman and child for 20 miles around. My first case was against him and was over the sale of a horse. I had a perfectly clear case and congratulated myself on my good fortune. On the day of the trial I drove out to the place and found my adversary already there. The case proceeded, and the other side put up practically no defense at all, but it didn't take that jury 15 minutes to find for the defendant."

"I was astounded, but the old justice of the peace before whom the trial took place afterward explained it to me. It seems that the old lawyer had gone to the room of the trial early in the morning and had told the men sitting about the corner grocery store that a young college dude was coming over to try a suit. Then he gave a description of me that was well calculated to prejudice the rural mind. He painted me as a young pup who wore a plug hat, felt above speaking to common folks and beyond all things needed a taking down. His remarks were backed up by a large flask of Kentucky whisky. When I appeared on the scene and they saw the suit hat, I was settled in my fate. After that I was more careful."

"I can also relate an experience with rural justice," said the third man. "I once had a case before a newly elected justice of the peace, who was also a farmer. The defendant was represented by an old pettifogger named Knimmons. On the day of the trial I drove half a dozen miles out into the country to the justice's house. No one was on hand except the justice himself, and I asked him if he was not ready to go on with the trial."

"There will be no trial," said he. "The defendant has decided to withdraw the case and pay the costs."

"Great heavens!" I yelled. "The defendant can't withdraw a suit."

"But he has withdrawn it," said the justice, "and it is so entered in the records of the court. The case has been dismissed."

"It was quite true. My opponent, finding that he had no case, had stolen a march on me and had the case dismissed by the vigilant justice, paying the trifling costs."

"Yes," said the Cedar street lawyer, "there are some funny incidents in the law business, but there is a sad side to some of them, too, which makes me reflect on how small a proportion of all human wrongs and misfortunes we are able to relieve. One day soon after I began practice a handsome and fashionably dressed woman came into my office. From her looks I judged that she was not much over 20 years of age, and I learned afterward that she had been married only a short time before. She told me that she had been sent by a clergyman who was a friend of mine, and after some hesitation added that she had had trouble with her husband."

"I supposed that my visitor was seeking to be released from Hymen's bonds and asked if there was any evidence on which she could base an action for divorce. She seemed to be horrified at the thought and said:

"Oh, no, sir; I don't want a divorce."

"Well, then," I said, "probably you can get a separation." And I enumerated the grounds on which it could be obtained.

"But I wouldn't have a separation if I could get it," said she.

"I was becoming a trifle puzzled, but I hazarded another suggestion."

"Better go up to Judge Blank," I said, naming one of the police justices. "He will give you a warrant, and you can bring your husband into court and make him contribute a fixed sum per week to your support."

"I don't want him to contribute to my support," said the woman, almost crying by this time. "I can make more money than he can."

"This was exasperating, so I said:

"Well, madam, you can't get and don't want a divorce or a separation, and you don't wish to compel your husband to contribute to your support. You must pardon me if I fail to see how I can advise you, for I have no idea as to what you do want."

"Tears welled up in the young woman's eyes, and, clasping her hands, she faltered plaintively:

"I—I want him to—to—love me!"

BENTON'S NEGLECTED GRAVE.

No Fitting Memorial Marks the Resting Place of Missouri's Great Statesman.

Forty thousand people followed all that was mortal of Thomas H. Benton to the grave, both houses of congress adjourned upon hearing the news of his death, and a guard of honor accompanied the remains from Washington to St. Louis, but a tottering stone a foot wide and three feet high is all that today marks the last resting place of the intellectual giant who represented Missouri in the United States for 30 memorable years.

The neglected grave of Benton is in Bellefontaine cemetery, St. Louis, and is one of a row of nine graves, all marked by modest slabs. That above the statesman's grave bears the simple inscription "Thomas H. Benton," and there is no word to indicate when he died or what part he took in the building of the nation. Under the weight of 37 years the grave has sunk lower and lower until it is barely above the level of the ground about it. A few more years will completely obliterate its fading outlines and cause the fall of the little white stone that bears so great a name. The grave is in the Brant family lot, from the center of which rises a marble shaft of modest proportions which bears the family names Brant and Benton. At the rear of the lot is the line of nine graves already mentioned.

The lot is well cared for, as are all the lots in a well ordered city of the dead, but there is nothing to indicate that the Brant lot receives any more attention because of its distinguished occupant than any other. A stranger might pass by and read all the names without even suspecting that one of the graves covered the dust of a statesman who ranked with Webster, Clay, Calhoun and Jackson.

Despite the fact that his grave is neglected, Benton has by no means been forgotten by the world. A number of monuments have been erected in his honor, and a line of battle ships of his stands in one of the parks of St. Louis.

A New Port.

Byest, the new port to be built on the North sea at the mouth of the canal that is to make Buzes once more a seaport, will be large enough to hold 12 or 15 of the largest transatlantic steamers. The breakwater will stretch more than two miles out to sea. The port will cost $5,000,000, and $2,400,000 more will be spent on the canal.

The Island of Tanna.

The volcanic island of Tanna, one of the New Hebrides group, has been for many years in a constant state of eruption, emitting a column of fire by night and smoke by day, which is clearly seen at a great distance. Such is the certainty with which this flame appears that vessels in the vicinity are instructed by their sailing directions to look out for it just as they would do were it an ordinary lighthouse.

To Fit the Case.

"I wish you would give me a name for a new brand of butter," said a dairyman to a customer.

"Certainly," answered the customer: "If it is like the last you sent me, I would suggest 'Samson.'" —Detroit Free Press.

If we can advance propositions both true and new, these are our own by right of discovery, and if we can repeat what is old more briefly and brightly than others, this also becomes our own by right of a new set—Colton.

BRUTAL ASYLUM ATTEMPTS.

Damaging Testimony in the Hearing on the Death of Leon Pisa.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 3.—The inquest on the remains of Leon Pisa, the Italian who died recently at the state insane asylum, was begun at the office of Deputy Coroner Chandler yesterday. Attendants Lynch, Brown and Swan were brought in by Detectives Wist and McVey.

Thomas Oakes, of Trenton, who was at one time an attendant at the asylum, stated that on Oct. 5 Brown called to him to help conduct Pisa to the bathroom. He got hold of one hand. He stated that he saw Brown hit the man, and Swan came in and jumped on his stomach. After Pisa was undressed he lay on the floor gasping and Mr. Clayton threw water in his face to revive him. The witness protested. He saw Lynch and Brown pick him up and throw him in the bathtub. He was told to go for towels, and being called back found the man dead.

On cross examination he said Brown grabbed Pisa by the throat and assaulted him. When they got him in the bathroom he felt more dead than alive. He saw Swan kick him on the side and jump on him with his knees about four times. The patient, he said, made no resistance. Oakes identified the prisoners.

David M. Waples, who was a patient on Oct. 5, testified to about the same effect.

Dr. James H. Walker, who made the post-mortem examination, said he discovered that the brain was congested and that there was a fracture on the right side of the skull, running back from the temple. The ninth and tenth ribs on the right side were also fractured.

The Howell Murder Trial.

WELLSBORO, Pa., Dec. 2.—In the Howell murder trial yesterday the Commonwealth moved by the testimony of Coroner Niles that Labbe Knapp died of arsenic poison. Counsel fought during much of the day over the admission in evidence of the letters written by Mrs. Howell in the district attorney's office before her arrest. The prisoner's counsel claimed that the testimony sought to be introduced had been manufactured, obtained for the purpose of trapping the women, and that her printing of the Roman capitals could not, under the circumstances, have been done naturally. The Commonwealth hoped to induce Judge Mitchell to change his ruling, which was that the letters should not be admitted as evidence. He reaffirmed it, however.

A "Too Premature" Clergyman.

He leaves a widow and two little daughters.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. ## THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The message of President Cleveland to the Fifty-fourth Congress, which was delivered at noon, today, is a comprehensive review of the foreign relations and domestic affairs of the United States. It contains no novel suggestions or recommendations and its most important feature is that part which deals with the financial problems that confront the nation.

After calling attention to the reports of the heads of departments, the President presents the most important phases of our relations with foreign powers. The Waller case is reviewed at length, and it is hinted that the restrictions put by Germany on American imports may call for similar restrictive measures on our part. Congress is urged to make an appropriation for the payment of the Behring Sea awards, or, if it will not sanction their payment, to provide for the speedy adjustment of the Behring Sea claims by arbitration. Attention is called to the necessity of action with a view to determining the Alaskan boundary dispute.

In regard to the Venezuelan boundary dispute the President says that in July last the British Government was notified that the traditional and established policy of this country was firmly opposed to a forcible increase by any European power of its territorial possessions on this side of the Atlantic, and that as a consequence the United States was bound to protest against the enlargement of British Guiana in derogation of the rights and against the will of Venezuela. Arbitration of the whole controversy by friendly and impartial powers was suggested as the only way of settlement satisfactory to this country, and it was distinctly stated that it would not satisfy this country for England to draw an arbitrary line through the territory in dispute and declare that it will submit to arbitration only the portion lying on one side of this line. England was asked for a definite answer as to whether it would submit the matter to arbitration. Though the communication was sent five months ago, no answer has been received, but with cheerful optimism the President says "a reply is expected shortly."

In regard to Cuba the President says that no matter how much we may sympathize with the efforts of Cuban patriots to achieve their freedom, the Government is bound to honestly observe the obligations of neutrality.

Everything possible has been done for the protection of Americans in Turkey. Our Minister there is active and alert and we have sent ships as near as possible to the points of actual disturbances.

The President says that our financial predicament is so perplexing and terrible as to require wise and prompt treatment. Steps have already been taken toward improving the economical and financial situation by reforming the tariff policy of the country and ridding it of a customs revenue system designed for the benefit of favored classes at the expense of the great mass of the people, and which, while ineffectual for the purpose of revenue, curtailed our trade relations with other nations; also by repealing the silver purchase act. After reviewing the different financial laws that have been passed and exhaustively treating of present monetary conditions, the President says that "after increasing our interest bearing bonded indebtedness more than $162,000,000, to save our gold reserve, we are nearly where we started, having now in such reserve $79,333,966, as against $65,138,377 in February, 1891, when the first bond were issued. I am convinced that the only thorough and practicable remedy for our troubles is found in the retirement and cancellation of our United States notes, commonly called greenbacks, and the outstanding treasury notes issued by the government in payment of silver purchases under the act of 1890. I believe this could be quite readily accomplished by the exchange of these notes for United States bonds of small as well as large denominations bearing a low rate of interest and running for a long term."

To further insure the cancellation of the notes and provide a way in which gold may be added to the currency in lieu of them, the President suggests that the Secretary of the Treasury be authorized to sell bonds abroad for gold and use such gold in taking up and cancelling notes that are in the Treasury, or that may be received by the government on any account. The increase in the interest-bearing debt involved in this plan would, the President believes, be amply compensated for by restored confidence at home, reinstated faith in our monetary strength abroad and the stimulation of every industry and interest that would follow the cancellation of the gold-demand obligations now affecting us.

It is suggested that the $486,000,000 of currency withdrawn by the retirement of United States notes could be supplied by the gold used in their retirement and by an increase in the circulation of national banks. The President thinks the banks should be allowed to issue circulation up to the par value of the bonds they deposit to secure it, that the tax on circulation should be reduced to one-fourth of one per cent., and that they should be allowed to substitute for the bonds now deposited as security for their circulation the new bonds proposed by this greenback retirement plan.

The President says that whatever is attempted in the way of remedying our financial ills "must be entered on with the knowledge that our restoration to health may require heroic treatment and unpleasant remedies."

The President calls attention to the fact that the Treasury notes given in payment for silver purchases have been a fruitful source of financial disturbance and says that since the increased purchase of silver was begun in 1890, the withdrawals of gold have been thirteen times as great as they were in the eleven and a half years after Jan. 18, 1879, when specie payments were resumed.

While distinctly disavowing any wish to question the sincerity of those who favor the free coinage of silver as a remedy for financial troubles, the President summarizes all the well known arguments, drawn from the world's experience, against the futility of attempting to maintain the parity of gold and silver at an arbitrary ratio appreciably different from that which is established in the markets of the world, and begs the advocates of free coinage to re-examine their views and beliefs in the light of patriotic reason and familiar experience, and to weigh again and again the consequences of such legislation. They are reminded also that even the continued agitation of the subject adds greatly to the difficulties of a dangerous financial situation.

In conclusion, the President reminds Congress that it is charged with the responsibility of inaugurating measures for the safety and prosperity of the country, and calls upon it to consider our critical financial plight, promising hearty co-operation in every patriotic endeavor to further the interests and guard the welfare of our country.

A Non-Sectarian Church for State Hill.—The Bottling Factory—Shipping Hoopoles.

Correspondence About and Mercury.

—A number of the citizens of State Hill and vicinity are anxious to have a new church erected in that place. It is proposed to locate the edifice in the west end of the village, on a piece of land offered and donated by Wm. H. Wood near and south of his residence. The church, as stated by the giver of the land, must be unsectarian, all religious denominations to have the privilege to worship in it without restraint or hindrance. Some funds to build the church are on hand and can be applied to building purposes, and it is proposed to raise the balance by subscription.

THE INFLUENCE OF THE TRAIN.

Examination of the Two Little Mites Charged With Loosening Brakes on O. and W. Coal Cars—Testimony Against the "Mite Boy"—His Straight Story.

The examination of the two little boys, Claude Seise and James Kennedy, charged with starting the coal cars which caused the wreck in the O. and W. yard, last week, was held before Recorder Bradner, yesterday afternoon.

The alleged culprits, but little more than babes in appearance, were accompanied by their fathers. They were apparently unconscious of the fact that they were the central figures in the affair, and were as unconcerned as any of the spectators present.

The first witness called was Yard Conductor Van Keuren, who testified that the brakes were set on the cars and that the switch was closed.

Eddie White, a lad about twelve years old, testified that he was one of a party of boys playing on the bank near the switch when the cars were started. He saw both boys playing on the cars and young Seise fooling with the brake. Did not see him turn the brake.

George Gould, aged twelve years, was with White and saw Seise playing with the brake wheel, but he did not turn it. When the cars started he saw Seise jump off and try to put a piece of iron on the rail to stop them.

Arthur Monarque, another boy, testified that he was sitting in Chas. Beyez's window and saw the two boys playing on the cars. Seise was fooling with the brake of the middle car of the string. (All other evidence was to the effect that the boys were on the car on the south end of the switch.) Saw the cars start and Seise jump off.

Charles Beyez, a blacksmith, swore that he was sitting in his window and saw the boys playing on the cars; saw Seise kick the brake dog loose, then saw the brake wheel turn and the cars start. He was questioned by Mr. Seise as to the height of the ratchet, which locks the brake, from the bumper of the car, but could not tell.

In reply to a question of Mr. Kennedy he admitted that his sight was so defective that it was necessary for him to wear glasses when he wished to see clearly, yet he insisted that he saw the brake wheel turn.

Grant Wilson testified to the extent of damage to cars caused by the collision.

Mr. Seise, father of little Claude, testified that he saw the cars start and he and Mr. Monell jumped upon them and found the brakes set so hard that with great effort they could only turn them one notch tighter. He also said that the ratchet wheels on the cars he noticed were placed on steps about midway between the bumper and top of the car.

Mr. Kennedy, father of the other boy, gave the same testimony as at preliminary examination.

Little Claude Seise was then brought within the rail and closely questioned by the Recorder. He never flinched a particle, but with a pair of large blue eyes looked the Recorder square in the face and told his story just as he did at the preliminary examination, and every effort to break him up was fruitless. His words and manner were so earnest and apparently sincere that it would be difficult indeed for anyone to doubt the truth of his story.

If he did not tell the truth he is the most accomplished little liar in the State of New York.

Claude repeated his story of the big boy who removed a pick handle from under the wheel and knocked a brake dog loose with a plow bar and started the cars, and told Kennedy and him not to tell. He said the boy wore a black derby hat, old shoes, had a slit in the breast of his coat and had a cord around his neck; he had two scars, one under the eye and the other on the ear, both on the right side of the face. The boy had a cart with board wheels and a body made of a starch box.

The Recorder announced that he would adjourn the case for a week to see if the boy described by Seise could be found, but just then it was reported to him that some one had induced the Kennedy boy to say that he jumped off the cars because he was afraid Seise would kick the brake loose and start the cars.

The little mite of a boy was then placed upon a table before the Recorder and confronted with the man to whom he had told his story, but he could not be made to say that he saw Seise kicking off the brake dog. He said he was on the other end of the car and saw Claude's body moving and heard a sound which he thought was kicking.

On the strength of this bit of testimony the Recorder was about to hold young Seise for the Grand Jury but his better judgment prevailed and he adjourned the case for a week.

LIFE IN TURKEY.

Elia Yovicheff's Lecture at the First Baptist Church—Entertaining, Clever and Instructive—A New View of the Armenian Question.

Elia Yovicheff, at the Baptist Church, last night, gave one of the most entertaining, clever and instructive talks that have been heard in Middletown in many a long day. In a lecture that lasted over an hour and a half the interest of the audience never wavered for a moment, as the speaker, in an easy, conversational style, gave his graphic delineations of Turkish life and character. The speaker was dressed in the picturesque costume of a Turkish gentleman and with fragrant narghileh and cup of coffee acted the part to the life.

The ordinary Turkish gentleman of no settled occupation, he said, always begins his day in the coffee house, and from the impulses that come upon him there the character of the day is determined. Cross and anxious as he enters the cafe, saluting no one and by no one saluted, his untutored asperity thaws gradually under the influence of his surroundings, and he presently flings a cheery greeting to some acquaintance. Soon some member of the company announces to the "honorable sirs and princes" present that he has a story which he wishes to relate. The announcement is received with acclamation, and, all having ears to hear, prepare to hear. The story, Mr. Yovicheff remarked, as a rule, was some venerable anecdote, but nevertheless such is the native politeness of the Turk and his passive acceptance of the inevitable, that the whole audience lies on with every indication of the deepest interest and applaud rapturously the twice-told tale. We could not help thinking as we listened to this that some acquaintances of our own here in Middletown would be in Paradise before their time if they lived among these patient Orientals.

It is impossible to attempt, without encroaching overmuch upon our column, to give anything like a full account of the picturesque narrative to which we listened, but we must confess to the astonishment with which we heard Mr. Yovicheff's sympathetic presentation of the Turkish side of the Armenian atrocity question.

As a matter of fact the whole picture that was given by the lecturer of Turkish life and morals was attractive and pleasing, and calculated to enlist sympathy for a race called by Mr. Gladstone "unspeakable" Turks.

There are among them no houses of ill fame, no do you ever hear of any drunkenness. They have none of our social distinctions nor any of our feverish wealth. Their social life is hospitable itself, and they are by nature simple and humane. True they are "way behind" in the arts of civilization and in modern industries, and their business men have no idea of the great American art of advertising, while their educational ideas are very primitive and crude, but the lecturer seemed to think that on the whole the Turkish manner of living compared more than favorably with that of more progressive countries in respect to the true ingredients of social peace and happiness.

With regard to the Armenian atrocity question the speaker, while not denying that the Armenians had suffered, just as the Bulgarians, his own countrymen, had suffered in 1876, declared that the Armenians had brought it all upon themselves. They had deliberately put themselves in the way of such atrocities by provoking the Turk to wrath, in order that they might enlist the sympathy of Europe, and thus get the freedom they could otherwise never achieve, for they were in a minority of one to seventeen. The Turks, he said, simply cut the throats of the Armenians to save their own throats from being cut.

As "devil's advocate," the speaker really made out quite a plausible plea for the "sick man," and it would be well worth the while of the Commander of the Faithful to engage him in that capacity for the purpose of counteracting the general impressions that are all but to the contrary.

One story is worth repeating, in which the speaker contrasted the politeness of the ordinary Turk with the incivility of the average American. Once in Constantinople, happening to lose his way, he asked the first casual passer-by to set him right. With all the kindness in the world the courteous Turk placed himself at his service and insisted on guiding him to his destination.

On another occasion he happened to be in New York, and not knowing his whereabouts he said to a citizen on the sidewalk: "I want to go to Bowler street," and the American citizen replied: "Then why the devil don't you go?"

From Our Regular Correspondent.

—Capt. Mark Howell, of the G. S. and A. A. bowling team, has arranged for a series of games with the Monticello team, the first of which will be rolled at Monticello, next Saturday evening.

—Mr. Edward Tuthill, who formerly resided at Goshen, has accepted a position in the office of the Wells-Fargo Express Co. at Fort Jervis.

—St. John's fair will close, next Saturday night.

—The Goshen Social and Athletic Association will hold its regular monthly meeting, next Monday night. The annual election of officers will be held and five applications for membership considered.

—To the great joy of his rival bowlers, Goodale's team met its Waterloo, last night, being defeated, for the first time, by Dr. Parker's aggregation. Therefore the name of Goodale will not be enrolled upon the escutcheon of fame as was fondly hoped by the members of his team.

—Mr. Wilmet P. Thompson is confined to his home by illness.

—Regular monthly meetings of the fire companies will be held this week.

—A reception will be tendered the Rev. Mr. Betts at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Thompson, on Orange avenue, Wednesday evening.
